The Fourth Pillar Under Pressure - A Report on Press Freedom Today

Dr. Vinod Chandrashekhar Dixit
Free-lance Journalist, Writer & Cartoonist
(dixitpatrakar@yahoo.in)

Every year, 3rd May is celebrated as the fundamental principles of press freedom; to evaluate press freedom around the world, to defend the media from attacks on their independence and to pay tribute to journalists who have lost their lives in the exercise of their profession. Freedom of the press or media is the belief system that communications to the public through the medium of print, television and, these days, internet should be free of oversight from the government. It is the responsibility of the media to bring forth news and facts that will shape public opinion and allow the citizens of a country to exercise their rights. The right to freedom of speech and expression isn't absolute and it is up to the judiciary to decide when the press is being denied this right and when it cannot exercise this right. In other words, if the people are to be free, it is the job of the media to ensure that it keeps a watch on those in power in whose hands the freedom lies. Social responsibility is the obligation to guide one's actions on the basis of the effect the actions will have on society, economy, culture and environment.

If we glance at the history of the press in India, the Indian press is deeply rooted in Indian history and had its beginnings under the aegis of the British Raj. During the Indian struggle for freedom, various acts were enacted by the British government to censor press coverage of parties such as the Congress which were in the forefront of the independence movement. These acts included the Indian Press Act (1910), Indian Press (Emergency) Act (1931-32) and the Defence of India Act during the Second World War (1939-1945). With the advent of independence, Indian leaders laid out the Constitution of India which guaranteed certain rights to all its citizens as part of being a democracy. While there is no specific Act in the constitution regarding the freedom of the press, Article 19 (1) a guarantees the right of freedom of speech and expression to all citizens. The freedom of the press is deemed to be part of this right. Ideally, this means that the communications and expressions in various media cannot be censored by the government.

It serves as a reminder to governments of the need to respect their commitment to press freedom and is also a day of reflection among media professionals about issues of press freedom and professional ethics. In order for a democracy to work, it needs to have four solid aspects - free and fair elections, protection of the people's human rights, the participation of citizens and the rule of law applied equally to everyone. The theory of social responsibility of the press lies between total authoritarianism and libertarianism. As per the theory, a free press should be allowed without any censorship but the content should be self-regulated and open to discussion in public panels. There are four pillars that support a working democracy - the executive, legislature, judiciary and press. Of these, the latter two are vital to the proper functioning of a democracy. Time and time again, recent history has proven that censorship of the press is one of the most common features of a dictatorship. The censorship may not even be direct or obvious at first. A government may often start by discrediting the news media and what is being reported.

If members of the press are intimidated and harassed or are discredited without reason, the people lose the only tool they have to participate effectively in the running of their country. Without freedom of the press, no government can be considered 'of the people, by the people and for the people'. Unfortunately, the past few years have seen increasing curbs, direct or indirect, on the media and its ability to report. In order to be truly effective, the press needs to remember that it has a responsibility to its audience and to society as a whole to be rational and conscientious in its reporting. (B-15 Jyoti-Kalash Society, Jodhpur Tekra, Satellite, Ahmedabad - 380 015)

BJP loses in Ahmedabad's Khadia, Congress panel wins

Jailed AAP-Congress candidates win election in Jamnagar, fight breaks out between BJP-Congress workers in Surat

Ahmedabad In Gujarat, the BJP's stronghold in urban areas has remained safe and has become stronger. By 2 pm, BJP's saffron has been hoisted on 12 out of 15 municipal corporations. AAP's state general secretary Manoj Sorathia has faced defeat in Surat, while Congress candidate RJ Abha and Ravindra Jadeja's sister Naynaba Jadeja have faced defeat in Rajkot. BJP's crushing defeat in Ahmedabad's Khadia

Congress has won in Khadia ward, a BJP stronghold in Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation. All four BJP candidates have faced defeat. In Bhaskar's ground report, the residents of Khadia had expressed their grief.

BJP candidates unopposed in 43 seats of 15 municipal corporations

In the 15 municipal corporation elections, 43 BJP candidates have gone unopposed in 11 municipal corporations. Of these, 12 are in Anand, 11 in Porambadar, 5 in Mehsana, 2 in Ahmedabad, 3 in Surendranagar, 1 in Jamnagar, 3 in Nadiad, 2 in Vadodara, 2 in Navsari, 1 in Gandhidham and 1 in Vapi municipal corporation.

Average 55 percent voting in 15 Municipal Corporations, highest 72.29 percent in Vapi

This time the elections of 15 Municipal Corporations have been held after the work of SIR (Special Intensive Revision) and 27 percent OBC reservation. The increase in voting due to SIR has not been as expected. On the other hand, more than 49 lakh voters did not come out to vote due to various reasons. The first election has been held after the formation of Vapi Municipal Corporation, where the highest 72.29 percent voting has been recorded. While the lowest 46.03 percent voting has been recorded in Gandhidham Municipal Corporation.

Will the BJP's stronghold in urban areas remain intact or will it be eroded?

The urban areas of Gujarat have been a stronghold of the BJP. The Ahmedabad and Rajkot Municipal Corporations have been ruled by the BJP for the last 20 years and Surat, Vadodara, Jamnagar and Bhavnagar for the last 30 years. Despite many political ups and downs, the BJP has managed to maintain its grip on the urban areas. The nine new Municipal Corporations that were formed in 2025 were also municipalities, and the BJP had won in 2021.

In Ward No. 12 of Jamnagar Municipal Corporation, Congress has won two seats and Aam Aadmi Party has won two seats. Importantly, before the election, a case was registered against AAP's Aslam Khilji and Congress' Altaf Khafi under the Gujstok Act. In which case, both are currently in jail but have won the election. While among the women candidates, AAP's Janabben Khafi and Congress' Saharaben Makwana have won. Out of the 30 wards of Surat Municipal Corporation, the results of a total of 14 wards have been declared so far. In which Congress has won one seat and BJP has won all the remaining seats.

In Rajkot, Congress gave ticket to cricketer Ravindra Jadeja's sister. In ward number 2, the entire BJP panel has won. Naynaba Jadeja has faced defeat.

Gujarat High Court quashes Surat Magistrate Court order

Surat, The Gujarat High Court has ordered the cancellation of the summons issued by the lower court against Surat DCP Rajdeepsinh Nakum and PI R.B. Gojiya. Citing the provisions of the BNSS, the High Court has made it clear that before taking legal action against any government official, a report from his superior officer should be obtained and the officer should be heard.

Allegation of beating by staff in custody

According to the details of this incident, the notorious accused of Surat, Manish Kukri and his associates were arrested for the crime of attempt to murder. Meanwhile, Manish Kukri had alleged in the Surat court that during police custody, the then in-charge of the Crime Branch, DCP Rajdeepsinh Nakum, currently SOG DCP, and former PI of Varachha, R.B. Gojiya and other staff had beaten him. Taking these allegations seriously, the Surat Magistrate Court registered a case against the police officers under sections 115 and 54 of the Indian Penal Code on June 13, 2025 and issued summons.

The DCP and PI had approached the Gujarat High Court challenging the order of the Surat court. The advocate representing the petitioners said that the lower court had not followed the provisions of the newly enacted BNSS Act. He said that when a public servant is performing his official duty, a crime cannot be directly registered against him. High Court quashes Surat Magistrate's order After hearing the case, Justice High Court noted that there is a fundamental difference between CRPC and the new BNSS. The High Court said in the judgment that before registering a crime, the Magistrate should have sought a report on the veracity of the incident from the officer's superior. According to the law, every police officer should be given an opportunity to present his side, which the Surat court did not give.
